AL340/AL890:
Digital Humanities Seminar

This course will address ways to GATHER, ANALYZE, and MANIPULATE the big data of the digital age to EMPOWER our analysis, CRITICISM, and CREATIVITY. The DH Seminar is a HANDS-ON class mixing THEORY and PRACTICE.

IN THIS CLASS, YOU WILL:

- develop data hacking skills across media
- refine critical thinking skills to better understand experience and identity in the digital age
- experience multiple subfields of digital humanities
- collaborate on digital projects
- build expertise applicable to the workplace and/or academic research

FOR MORE INFORMATION OR TO REQUEST
AN OVERRIDE PLEASE CONTACT:

SEAN PUE
  Associate Professor of South Asian Literature & Culture (Course Instructor)
  pue@msu.edu | @seanpue

KRISTEN MAPES
  Digital Humanities Specialist
  kmapes@msu.edu

The course is part of the Digital Humanities Specialization, but students are not required to be in the program to enroll in the class. Graduate and Undergraduate students are welcome to enroll.

DH.CAL.MSU.EDU

MICHIGAN STATE
UNIVERSITY | College of Arts & Letters